Ohioan Insists on the Arizona Proposition Being Submitted as He Chooses.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

WASHINGTON, May 22.—An agreement on the Statehood Bill, embodying the conference's conclusions, will be reached this week, according to information today. What the terms of this agreement may be cannot be stated with precision, as the report has not yet been drafted.

The plans which seem to be acceptable to both sides, however, are: That Oklahoma and Indian Territory shall be admitted as one State at once; that Arizona and New Mexico shall be allowed to vote separately on the question of being joined in one State; that the vote shall be cast at a regular territorial election, when of the Territories are voted for.

The proposition is generally known as the Foraker amendment of a year ago.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The strategy of Senator Aldrich could not prevent the development of a lively row between Speaker Cannon and Senator Foraker over the momentous question: "What will the thirty-ninth Congress do with the Statehood Bill?"

"Actuated by a desire to harmonize the leaders of the Statehood factions, Senator Aldrich attempted to essay the role of an intermediary between Speaker Cannon and Senator Foraker over the momentous question: 'What will the thirty-ninth Congress do with the Statehood Bill?'"

"UNCLE JOE'S" PROPOSAL. Early this afternoon, Aldrich went to Foraker with a proposition from "Uncle Joe" which was that the House would make no further fight on Statehood Bill, if the first Foraker amendment were substituted for the second Foraker amendment. The first amendment offered by Foraker provided that after the Constitution has been made, an election shall be held, at which both the questions of ratifying the Constitution and determining whether the Territories are to be submitted for Statehood are to be submitted.

FORAKER'S DEMAND. To this proposition, Foraker delivered himself of a vociferous nay. Aldrich then was requested by Foraker to say to Speaker Cannon that he insisted upon the question of jointure of New Mexico and Arizona being submitted in the November election without reference to the question of a Constitution.

CANNON ROARS BACK. Speaker Cannon objected to this proposition with the same alacrity and vehemence, whereupon Foraker replied that, unless the Speaker accepted his offer, he would provide for the admission of Indian Territory and Arizona, as stated, by making the provision a rider on the Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill.

"UP TO UNCLE." In the vanquish of the street, it is now "up to" Speaker Cannon to decide whether he will allow Indian Territory and Oklahoma to come into the Union, or see his pet Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill defeated.

ALDRICH RUNNING THINGS. Aldrich says that Congress will adjourn June 24. This Senator has all the time been a leader, but for the period he was away in the background framing a railroad rate bill to suit himself and temporarily permitting the public to believe that he had been depressed and kicked into the smoking room by Senators who were advocating what was claimed as "radical rate legislation." Aldrich did not care so long as he was confident that, when the bill should leave the Senate everything he wanted would be incorporated, even though it should be concealed under a leaf or be hiding around a corner.

adjourn. He believes he comes mightily near knowing what is going to become of the Rate Bill in conference; also the Statehood Bill, the Philippine Tariff Bill, the Panama Canal, the big battleships, the Smoot case, the Denatured Alcohol Bill, the Pure Food Bill and a few other bills of minor importance. "They will all be disposed of in big time." This is the word Aldrich has sent down the line. He cares not what the President or Speaker think about this programme, he has decided what shall be done.

MUSICIANS HIT ON A HIGH KEY.

FEDERATION URGES LABOR TO DO THINGS IN POLITICS.

Accuses the Old Parties of Breaking Promises, and Suggests Election of Constables and President of the Nation, Not to Overlook Other Officers—Union Label Row.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

BOSTON, May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Both Democrats and Republicans and all three branches of the government received censure today at the convention of the American Federation of Musicians, in a resolution presented by Owen Miller of St. Louis. The resolution accused both great parties of broken promises, and urged laboring men to stand together to elect every officer from Constable to President.

The principal theme of discussion was on allowing army and navy musicians to play in public for pay, in competition with civilian musicians, and a resolution was passed again calling the attention of the President to this "evil."

There was a row over the fact that the printed proceedings of the previous convention did not bear the union label, until it was explained that the firm handling the contract was favorable to the unions, and that the omission was an oversight. They were, accordingly, retained, pending explanation from the secretary of the chapel in charge and the head of the firm doing the work.

Only routine business went through, otherwise, today.

GREAT VICTORY FOR DOWIEITES.

DISTRICT JUDGE LANDIS WILL NOT APPOINT RECEIVERS.

Declares Investigation Done, Not Show Misappropriation of Funds. "Plain Sailing" for John Alexander Is Now Alleged—Order for Adjudication in Bankruptcy.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

CHICAGO, May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The first decisive legal victory in the fight between the warring factions of Zion went to the adherents of John Alexander Dowie, today, in the District Court. Judge Landis declared his investigations found no evidence of misappropriation of funds; that the assets exceed all liabilities, and that no receiver will be appointed.

The followers of the "First Apostle" almost shouted with joy. Prophecies of what will happen to the Voliva forces Friday, when the legality of Voliva's transfer of all property to Deacon Granger comes up in the same court, were freely made.

It is asserted that today's decisions cover all points at issue, and that from now on it will be "plain sailing" for Dowie. An order of adjudication in bankruptcy, which was not contested by Dowie, will take effect tomorrow.

Several creditors, it is said, will contest his insolvency.

There is much discord in the Voliva camp. Deacon Newcomb, editor of Leaves of Healing; Deacon Peckham, manager of Zion Bank, and others are said to have resigned.

"TWENTY-THREE" FOR HIM. Siamese Prince's Envoy Fears to Go Home Since Adele Refuses Offer of Marriage.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) COLORADO SPRINGS (Colo.) May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Six weeks ago, Low Gek Seng, millionaire merchant of Singapore, came to America. In New York City, he sought out Adele Ritchie, actress in the Casino, and on behalf of Prince Sarong Tabek of Siam, who had seen her picture, proposed marriage. She refused, and the emissary of royalty, who told the story today, admits he is afraid to go home. The Prince has sixty-six wives now and two hundred children. When Adele heard the proposal, she said to Seng: "Twenty-three for you." He was in ignorance of her meaning until he got a translation.

KILLED HER UNCLE AT SUPERNAL COMMAND.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

NEW YORK, May 22.—Josephine Terranova, charged with murdering her aunt, took the stand in her own defense today.

The witness said her husband was led to suspect what her relations with her uncle had been because of a remark which the latter made. She declared that her uncle's mistreatment covered a period of about six years, and that it continued up to and including the night after her civil marriage to Terranova. She told of the circumstances which led her to kill her uncle, Gaetano, and her aunt, Conetta. She said that her husband, after listening to her confession, told her that she was no longer his wife and thereupon left her. She remained alone during the following ten days, subject, she said, to the influence of the hallucinations in which her uncle appeared. Whenever he appeared, a voice said "Kill him." Each night, the witness continued, she would dream or imagine that she was in the presence of God and there again she would hear the words "kill your uncle."

FOAM AT FORMS.

Presbyterians Oppose Ritualism.

General Assembly Profoundly Stirred by Recommendation of Book.

Declaration That the Volume "Smells of Priestcraft" Is Applauded.

Anti-Unionists of Cumberland Church Fail to Get Injunction Desired.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

DES MOINES, May 22.—The much-talked-about debate on the adoption of the book of forms and services recommended by a special committee of the Presbyterian General Assembly materialized late this afternoon, the debate continuing for two hours. No conclusion was reached and further discussion is to be made at a special order at a later session.

(Not in many years has an assembly been so stirred as it was today over this issue, and the most intense feeling was shown during the debate. Rev. Dr. Robert Johnson of Montreal waved a copy of the book in the air as he spoke and declared that "it smells of priestcraft.")

The request was made by the moderator that all applause be discontinued, but when Dr. Johnson, stretching himself to his full six feet four inches, waving his hand frantically, declared that the book smelled of priestcraft, applause came out in a tremendous roar.

Moderator Van Dyke, chairman of the committee, opened with a witty allusion to the "palm of David," which, he said, he had repeated "for what we are to receive."

"There seems to be two extreme opinions," he said, "some want it put out and strangled underfoot; others want it adopted. Your committee stand where the two forces meet."

He said that his committee had carried out only the instructions of the General Assembly.

Dr. William F. McCauley of Cincinnati was the principal speaker for the opposition. He declared that the question was the most important that will come before the assembly. He based his assertions principally on the ground that the authorization by the General Assembly would be interpreted by the churches everywhere that the assembly wished its adoption, although it was not mandatory. He said that such authorization might prevent the union with the Cumberland church.

Mr. McCauley declared it inexpedient to make any recommendations on the matter and that in case any changes in the book are hereafter suggested they shall omit any statement of authorization by the General Assembly. This resolution was referred to the clerk.

MILLION FOR HOME MISSIONS.

Today's sessions of the General Assembly were devoted largely to home missions and in adopting the report of the Home Missions Board the assembly voted that $1,000,000 be set aside for the work next year, an increase of $100,000. The assembly gave a vote of indorsement to the Platt bill in the United States Senate for the suppression of polygamy.

The report of the standing board to the Presbyterian General Assembly shows a large increase in the number of individual givers to colleges and consequently a large increase in amounts of gifts; the past year also marked an increase in the ordinary offerings of the church, there being 271 more contributing churches and 2294 more individual contributors, increasing the total of gifts to $1,118,550 beyond the preceding year, an unparalleled record. Especially important was the gift of $20,000 to the endowment of Occidental College in Los Angeles and a similar gift to Pennsylvania College for Women at Pittsburgh. Generous offers were also received from Andrew Carnegie. The recommendations of the committee dealt largely with increased effort in securing gifts and endowments to colleges.

Clerk Roberts of the general assembly interrupted tonight's popular home mission platform meeting with the announcement of the dissolution of the injunction proceedings against the union with the Cumberland Presbyterian Church. The news was received with tremendous applause.

PROVIDING FOR UNION.

The General Assembly today voted to authorize Moderator Corbett to name a committee of ten ministers and eleven elders, one of whom shall be from the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, in case union is effected, to draft a plan for consolidating all boards of the church into one organization, to be divided into executive, legislative and judicial departments. A resolution was offered by Dr. E. Trumbull Lee of Philadelphia memorializing Congress to stop appropriations for sectarian purposes. This is the outgrowth of the recent charges in Congress that Catholics and Lutherans are receiving substantial assistance from the government in their religious work among Indians. The resolution was referred to the Committee on Bills and Overtures, and it will undoubtedly be adopted by the assembly. The Assembly today voted to combine with the Hungarian Reformed Church and the Reformed Church in the United States (German) in Hun-

Plans for Beautifying of San Francisco Mark New Era in Her Progression—Palatial Union Depot to Be Built.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Progressive has triumphed over conservatism in the deliberations of the committee having in charge the beautifying of the city, and, though concessions may be made to the "ancients" here and there, it is apparent that the general outline of the Burnham scheme is to be followed.

REBUILD CITY HALL.

One great change that has been incorporated in the recommendations for the rebuilding of the City Hall at the intersection of Market street and Van Ness avenue, instead of the old site, on which business blocks are to be erected, is that it is planned to group all of the municipal buildings, and to construct them along uniform lines.

PALATIAL UNION DEPOT.

All railroad terminals of the city are to be centered in a palatial union depot in the vicinity of Ninth and Bryant streets. Representatives of the several companies, with the exception of the Southern Pacific, have already agreed to this proposal. Chief Engineer J. J. Harrisman is in favor of the plan, but awaits word from headquarters before committing the Southern Pacific.

WIDENING OF STREETS.

General plans for the widening of streets south of Market have been drawn and special committees have been appointed to elaborate upon them. It has been decided to extend Eighth street through to Golden Gate avenue and to continue Potrero avenue to Eighth and Harrison. The grade of Nob Hill, where the Bonanzas Kings are to rebuild their mansions, will be reduced considerably.

DOWNTOWN PARKS.

Thus far no provision has been made for the creation of new downtown parks. In the hurry to rehabilitate the business district, there appears to be a general indisposition to make the radical changes for which the configuration supplied a golden opportunity. The protesting property owners, while they have been unable to prevent some rearrangement of the streets, have at least blocked some of the more extensive plans for the "city beautiful."

TROLLEY AND CABLE LINES.

Trolley cars are now running on Third street to the Potrero and South San Francisco. Forces of men are at work pulling down dangerous walls along Kearney street, and soon the trolley system along that and connecting thoroughfares will be in use. President Calhoun of the United Railroads announces that there is no intention to entirely abolish cable lines in the city; on the contrary, the Hayes street and Powell street systems and others along routes where the grades are steep, will be put into operation as soon as possible.

EXPENSIVE BUILDINGS.

The building which A. A. Moore, Jr., is to erect at the corner of Market and Second streets, and for which he has already accepted the plans drawn by Architect Bliss, will be of steel and pressed yellow brick and cost $750,000. It will be one of the first to be in course of construction on Market street.

The Wiley B. Allen Company, dealers in mineral goods, and the Walker Shoe Company will jointly put up a building on the east side of Van Ness avenue, at the corner of Walnut street. It will occupy a space 88x120 feet in dimensions, and will be one of the most substantial of the structures to arise along this new business thoroughfare.

NORMAL SCHOOL RESUMES.

The elementary department of the State Normal School will be reopened at once, to admit a number of pupils of the primary and grammar grades. Several months ago the trustees of the Normal School purchased the building at the corner of Buchanan and Waller streets, which was formerly the Protestant Orphan Asylum. It was the intention to replace this structure with a large school building. Luckily, the asylum was not damaged by the earthquake, and was out of the fire range, so that it is now available for educational purposes.

CATHEDRAL MISSION.

The first house of worship to rear its spire amid the widespread ruins and the first to be rebuilt on a portion of the old foundations is the Cathedral Mission at Second and Folsom streets. It was consecrated on Sunday by Bishop Nichols. The concrete floor of the gymnasium of the old Mission building was left intact, and it is on this solid foundation that the temporary edifice has been reared.

FINANCIAL CIRCLES SERENE. SAVINGS BANKS OPENING. [BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—P.M.] SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Absolute confidence reigns in banking circles here was made evident today, when several savings institutions announced that they would open their doors for business tomorrow morning.

This announcement came in the nature of a mild surprise, for it had been definitely agreed that all savings institutions would open their doors Monday, May 28. Many of the savings banks which will commence active operations tomorrow, instead of five days later, as had been agreed upon, give as a reason for the early resumption of business the fact that it is good public policy, as well as financial policy, to thus demonstrate to commercial circles the stability of the institutions. Others of the savings banks, which have decided upon an early opening, do so because they could not consistently open up the commercial department and refuse to do business in the savings branch. The agreement entered into among the commercial banks sets tomorrow as the date for the opening.

MOST PROMINENT ONES.

Among the savings institutions which will resume operations tomorrow are the Humboldt Savings Bank, the Scandinavian-American Savings Bank and the German Savings Bank. The Humboldt Savings Bank, one of the largest institutions of its kind in the West, is structurally intact, although the interior furnishings were destroyed by fire. Its vaults, with their double doors, each having eight thicknesses of steel plate, were opened readily, the locks immediately responding. Not only were the contents uninjured, but the vaults were cool, the heat of the roaring furnace which had surrounded them not being able to penetrate the steel walls.

Last week, the Humboldt had $1,000,000 taken from the mint and placed alongside the coin in its vaults. Yesterday, wishing to be fully equipped for any emergency that might arise, another $1,000,000 was transferred from the mint to the bank's building. The transfer was made by the use of a sand and brick wagon, and so quietly was it done that the hundreds of spectators who were watching the building operations near by were unaware of the transaction. When the bank opens tomorrow it will probably proceed to business without restrictions or limitations and continue on this line.

THE FINANCIAL CENTER.

The corner of Montgomery and Market streets is now a lively financial center, the activity being heightened by the Crocker-Woolworth National Bank. Among the other banks clustered in this vicinity and ready for business are the Wells-Fargo Nevada National Bank, the Union Trust Company and the Bank of California.

HOMER S. KING, PRESIDENT OF THE CLEARINGHOUSE ASSOCIATION, SAID:

"There is little demand for money, and I do not think there will be until the heavy building begins. Thus far, our receipts have much exceeded the withdrawals."

THAT CONDITIONS ARE RAPIDLY APPROACHING THE NORMAL IN FINANCIAL CIRCLES WAS INDICATED BY THE HOLDING OF A REGULAR CLEARING YESTERDAY IN THE QUARTERS OF THE CLEARINGHOUSE, IN THE MERCANTILE TRUST BUILDING.

STREAM OF DEPOSITORS.

When some of the commercial banks opened their downtown quarters yesterday they did so expecting a rush on the part of the depositors and were fully prepared to meet it. Instead of heavy demands for payments, there was a much larger stream of depositors, and the receiving teller was far busier than the paying teller.

THE WELLS-FARGO NEVADA NATIONAL BANK HAD OVER $20,000,000 IN ITS VAULTS AVAILABLE FOR THE EXPECTED RUSH. IT WAS STATED THAT THERE WERE NO HEAVY WITHDRAWALS, AND, IN VIEW OF CONFIDENCE BEING RESTORED, SOME OF THE BANKS DECIDED THAT THE ASSISTANCE THEY WERE TO RECEIVE FROM OTHER SOURCES IS NOW NECESSARY.

As soon as this report reached the faculty, the ban was put on woman.

KNOX RAISING DIPLOMATIC POST. WASHINGTON, May 22.—Senator Knox today gave notice of an amendment to the Diplomatic and Consular Appropriation Bill to raise the diplomatic post at Constantinople from a legation to an embassy. It is to correct this that Senator Knox has proposed his amendment.

GETS IN WAY OF RECESSION.

Senator Kittridge Opposing Transfer of Yosemite.

Perkins Expects to Overcome Him Before Long.

Mr. McCumber Denies He Spoiled Rate Bill.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
WASHINGTON, May 22.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Senator Perkins made an effort today to obtain a favorable report on the joint resolution for the reclamation of Yosemite Valley to the United States and changing the boundaries of Yosemite National Park, but objection was made by Senator Kittridge of South Dakota. Kittridge made objection once before in committee, and is evidently determined to prevent the adoption of the resolution, at all hazards.

CALIFORNIANS INCENSED.
Californians were much incensed at his action, as they regard this as almost purely a local matter. They said they did not understand the reasons for Senator Kittridge's action, unless it was to favor one railroad runner over the park at the expense of others.

Senator Perkins is a member of the Committee on Forest Reservations, in charge of the resolution, and said today that he was confident he would beat Mr. Kittridge before the session ended.

HAYES AND CHINESE.
Representative Hayes is suspicious of the plan to re-register Chinese in America. He admitted today that many may have lost certificates in the recent earthquake, but said many, if not more, were illegally in this country, and ought to be deported.

"I don't want any Chinese legislation whatever," said Mr. Hayes. "They are getting enough from us now, under the exclusion law, and are not entitled to any more favor."

SMITH AND POSTMASTERS.
Representative Smith has just recommended the appointment of several postmasters. One was Postmaster Edmund of Bakersfield, Smith's home, which was acted upon favorably by the department and is now being considered by the President. Another is Redlands, where Postmaster Tidwell was recommended for reappointment when his term expired in June 15.

The third was N. T. Edwards at Orange. Edwards is a new man, the incumbent having indicated his wish to retire from office. Smith expects that the Redlands and Orange nominations will be forwarded at the proper time.

RAILROAD RATE BILL.
GOES TO CONFERENCE TODAY.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—P.M.)
WASHINGTON, May 22.—The House tomorrow will be given an opportunity to vote for a resolution to send the committee on Rules to send the Railroad Rate Bill to conference. The resolution was introduced just before the House adjourned by Representative Hepburn, chairman of the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee.

Under the terms of this special rule, the House will not be given opportunity to vote on a motion to accept any one of the Senate amendments or to do otherwise than to support or object to a motion to non-concur in them "in gross." As this procedure allows the conference of both Democratic and Republican members of the committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, held last night, it is possible that there will be no opposition to the resolution.

AGRICULTURAL APPROPRIATIONS.
INCREASE OF HOUSE AMOUNT.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—P.M.)
WASHINGTON, May 22.—The Agricultural Appropriation Bill was reported to the Senate today. The bill carries $17,000,000, an increase of $2,500,000 over the amount carried by the bill as it passed the House. Items of increase include $1,500,000 for the Bureau of Animal Industry and $2,500,000 for experiment stations, $15,000,000 for public roads and $10,000,000 additional to extend the gypsy moth.

Regarding free seeds, the report says: "A decided majority of the committee expressed themselves informally as opposed to the distribution of common seeds as authorized by the law of former years, but deemed it desirable to recommend a change, believing that such could not now be secured from the government, and that the next session a liberal appropriation for the distribution of rare and valuable seeds take the place of the very objectionable system."

BURTON SHOULD RESIGN.
OPINION OF SENATORS.
(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
WASHINGTON, May 22.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Republicans, as well as Democratic Senators, believe that, in view of the Supreme Court's decision in his case, Senator Burton of Kansas should lose no time in entering his resignation. The announced purpose of the Kansas Senator to take advantage of the sixty days given him by the court in which to prepare his petition for a rehearing is construed as notice that he will take the step toward resigning until the petition is heard by the court in October.

Members of the Committee on Privileges and Elections have called upon to make, but the feeling is strong among Republicans that Senator Burton should relieve the embarrassment of his party associates by tendering his resignation without further delay. Should his resignation not be forthcoming soon, it is probable a resolution of expulsion will be offered.

REPUBLICAN "MACHINE."
ROAST BY MR. RANDALL.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—P.M.)
WASHINGTON, May 22.—The so-called Republican "machine" was the subject of a scathing denunciation in the House of Representatives today at the hands of Mr. Randall of Texas, who said leaders of the House who constitute and run the "machine" had done absolutely nothing except to make hypocritical pretenses as to some things, and to unblushingly advocate the "stand pat" doctrine in "other things."

"The completeness with which the people's interest is apparent in its treatment of questions before the Congress," said Mr. Randall. He said the attitude of the Republican party toward the Territories is another proof that it is unworthy to rule.

The "Slithering of States," he said, should make common cause in rebuking the cruel and outrageous crime committed by the Republican party. Impelled by fear, the machine may yet admit one State, but the people will understand their motive, and should not stay the hand of retribution.

"These machine leaders have been, and are, deceiving the great mass of voters who put them in power. The rank and file of the Republican party wants justice, and if only they would examine the records of their representatives, the damning hand of the machine would strike down these 'stand-pat' statesmen and have a 'new deal,' as well as a 'square one.'"

FIFTY-NINTH CONGRESS.
REGULAR SESSION.
WASHINGTON, May 22.—SENATE: The Senate today devoted the greater part of the session to consideration of the Immigration Bill, but before it was taken up Senator McCumber made a personal statement contradicting an article printed in the New York Tribune that the Railroad Rate Bill had been so amended at his instance as to provide for its expiration in June 15.

At the same time, the Senate adopted a resolution directing the committee on Privileges and Elections to consider the course to be pursued in the case of Senator Burton.

IMMIGRATION BILL.
Speeches on the Immigration Bill were made by Senators Dillingham, McCready, Bacon, Scott, Patterson and others. The bill was still under consideration when the Senate adjourned.

BURTON CASE.
The Senate directed the Committee on Privileges and Elections to investigate the effect of yesterday's decision by the Supreme Court in the case of Senator Burton. The resolution was offered by Senator Hale, and read as follows:

"Resolved, That the Committee on Privileges and Elections be directed to examine into the legal effect of the late decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Joseph R. Burton, a Senator from Kansas, and as soon as possible, to report their recommendations as to what action, if any, shall be taken by the Senate."

The resolution was adopted without debate.

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.
HOUSE—For an hour or more today, the House could not decide whether to go into the consideration of the whole of the Diplomatic and Consular Bill, or to follow the lead of Mr. Gardner of Massachusetts to take up consideration of the Immigration Bill.

Consular Bill.
Assisted by Mr. Williams, the minority leader, Mr. Gardner led a mild filibuster against taking up the Consular Bill, and endeavored to delay matters by raising a number of points of order. The House, however, had a quorum of the House present, and eventually the Consular Bill was taken up and general debate began.

At 5 o'clock the committee of the whole laid the Diplomatic Bill aside. The Senate bill authorizing the construction of a dam across the Ford River in the State of Washington was passed.

After sending several pension bills to conference, the House, at 5:10 o'clock, adjourned until noon tomorrow.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS.
Against Falsely-Stamped Metals.
WASHINGTON, May 22.—The Senate today passed the bill prohibiting the carrying in interstate commerce of falsely-stamped articles made of gold and silver.

Funds for Federal Courts.
WASHINGTON, May 22.—To meet an imperative emergency that the Federal courts may be obliged to adjourn for lack of funds, the House Committee on Appropriations today reported an urgent deficiency bill making available for immediate use $60,000 of the unexpended appropriation of 1906 for the payment of witnesses and jurors. The bill also contains an appropriation of $25,000 to pay the expenses of opening certain Indian reservations.

Tenth Infantry to Alaska.
WASHINGTON, May 22.—Secretary Taft has approved an order sending the headquarters and two battalions of the Tenth Infantry to Alaska to replace the Third Infantry. The Tenth Infantry will be scattered among all the present Alaskan forts, none of which will be abandoned, as was once suggested. The headquarters of the Tenth Infantry will be stationed at Fort Wright and Lawton, Wash., where the Tenth Infantry now is. Headquarters of the two battalions of the Twenty-fifth Infantry, now at Fort Niobrara, Neb., will be transferred to Fort McIntosh, Brown and Bliss, Tex. Fort Niobrara will be abandoned.

Opposed Eight-Hour Bill.
WASHINGTON, May 22.—A. C. Hayden, representing the Carnegie Steel Company, opposed the Eight-hour Bill today, before the House Committee on Education and Labor. He said the measure would drive every large institution now taking government contracts from that field; would turn over the manufacture of the supplies of the government to the small contractor, and would increase the cost of the same to the government from 12 to 15 per cent. For Carnegie Company, he said, at one time made the experiment of changing its factory

PEASANTS KILLED IN AGRARIAN DISORDERS.

Attention of Russia and Its So-called Parliament Riweted on Land Problem, and Future Events Will Be Determined by Its Solution.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—A.M.)

SMIRSK (Eastern Russia) May 22.—A fight between Cossacks and peasants, resulting from the efforts of the authorities to suppress agrarian disorders, has occurred in this vicinity. It is reported that four peasants were killed and 300 wounded.

PREPARE FOR PROBLEM.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—A.M.)
ST. PETERSBURG, May 22.—The Jewish league for the realization of equal rights for their co-religionists, in session here. The attitude of their members in Parliament will be defined and all questions relating to the Jews will be discussed. It is also proposed to make arrangements for holding a congress of the semitic organizations of Russia.

Parliament will probably not meet again until May 25, today being the feast day of St. Nicholas, the miracle worker, and May 24, being Ascension Day, another holiday. The interim will be occupied by the committees in examining the credentials and elections of the members of the Duma.

The Liberal papers, which yesterday clamored for an open war of retaliation against the Emperor's reaction, are personally receiving the deputation appointed by the House, after sober reflection, commend the course of Parliament in overlooking the point of etiquette in favor of the serious work which the country expects it to accomplish.

The Constitutional Democrats' agrarian project will be attacked by both the Right and the Left. The radical wing of the party, which now numbers over seventy members, has decided to make a fight for the complete abolition of private ownership of land, and the establishment of a system providing for the full nationalization of land.

While the members of the Right have a conservative land programme of their own, the details have not yet been given out. The group of forty peasants who met yesterday for the first time, working twelve hours each, to three shifts working eight hours each, the production of the factory decreased 50 per cent.

Santo Domingo Affairs.
WASHINGTON, May 22.—Disquieting advice relative to revolutionary movements in Santo Domingo led to a conference today between officials of the State and Navy departments. Details of the situation in Santo Domingo are difficult to access, but it is gathered that in substance they indicate that ex-President Morales, who fled from Santo Domingo, is now at or near St. Thomas, and is making a determined effort to expel Caceres and regain the Presidency of Santo Domingo.

Philippine Coinage Ratio.
WASHINGTON, May 22.—Senator Lodge today introduced a bill at the request of Secretary Taft for the adjustment of the ratio of the Philippine coinage, and for an increase in the elasticity of the present system. The bill is framed upon the recommendations of the Philippine Commissioners contained in their annual report, and, in brief, authorizes the President, to change the weight and fineness of the silver peso and to recoin the existing peso so as to adjust it to the Philippine standard.

The resolution was adopted without debate.

Opposed Eight-Hour Bill.
WASHINGTON, May 22.—A. C. Hayden, representing the Carnegie Steel Company, opposed the Eight-hour Bill today, before the House Committee on Education and Labor. He said the measure would drive every large institution now taking government contracts from that field; would turn over the manufacture of the supplies of the government to the small contractor, and would increase the cost of the same to the government from 12 to 15 per cent. For Carnegie Company, he said, at one time made the experiment of changing its factory week he will assume control of the Chicago Cubs, and thereafter will hereafter run the club. So many things depend on so many conditions, however, that there is no way of knowing what happens next from present appearances. Conditions are much better than they were two days ago.

McCarty, naturally, would not comment himself last night to the declaration that he was taking the job. While he had been thinking for a week of going into baseball, the matter has not brought strongly upon him until this morning when he quit league, and there are so many details to look into that it will take at least a day before local conditions are destroyed. There may be some other or other suitable grounds, is the principal thing, and if the Chutes people will show sufficient public spirit to buy the season ticket, there is little doubt that McCarty will go to the club.

Just how many players will go back to work should be known by tomorrow, but some of them will certainly try. Rumor has it that Tozer Nagle will go to Buffalo next Tuesday, and that the Chicago team for New Orleans, and is supposed to start this morning. Concerning such players that jump the league after being released, the National Commission or teams under the jurisdiction of the National Commission, Dillon yesterday afternoon that if any player wanted to leave the league, the Coast League continued to play, such players would be forced to turn to this club whenever they wish to leave, and would be subject to outlaws. President Bert's instructions yesterday to the National Commission to order all eastern clubs to keep their doors closed to players who have previously stated that Secretaries Farrell had agreed to this, would make it hard for any local player to do business with anyone but the league.

According to street rumors, it would not be hard work to organize a company to take charge of the Chicago American club, and it is possible that this may be attempted. Jim J. Fries has stated that he will go along with McCarty, and without doing his pair could make a success of it. It is understood that John E. Ryan have taken it last week, but that was so much talk about the matter that he became disgusted and quit. He offered that he knew of one man who would take $5000 worth of stock, and he believed it would not be difficult to get more money.

Everything, however, must await the return of Senator Pendleton, tomorrow morning, for he will be empowered to sign the franchise in any negotiations with McCarty.

LEAGUE OWNS PLAYERS.

Capt. Dillon held a conference with Capt. Ewing yesterday afternoon over a long-distance telephone, and Ewing stated that all players who refused to play for the league would be immediately suspended. Dillon then turned to Ewing of McCarty's desire to take over as franchise, and he expressed himself as pleased with the proposition.

The Times reporter then took the phone and outlined McCarty's statement of the conditions under which he would give up the franchise. McCarty asked that the league put up a forfeit of $5000 guaranteeing that the league would remain intact, and that the league should not allow any player to turn over as a whole.

"As to the $5000," said Ewing, "I cannot promise that. We all have our own pockets full of money." He said that Portland and Fresno, and San Francisco, Oakland and Los Angeles favorable, I can assure you the league will not let any player leave the franchise and the team to McCarty free of charge, and we authorize you to state that if he will pay the forfeit, we will deliver the goods to him."

BETTING BRISK ON BIG FIGHT.

JEFFRIES HAS A WORD TO SAY ABOUT IT.

"Lucky" Baldwin Declares Nelson Has Class and Can Have Bet of His Money—Herrera Gets a Offer from Amusement Manager—Trip to Hills Mexican's Plan.

Betting on the coming battle between Nelson and Herrera was brisk yesterday, and several hundred were made. The heaviest commission placed was that of an admirer of Nelson, who laid $1000 on the battle, with odds 10 to 1. There were also bets ranging from $100 to $500. Of these one man wagered $500 to $500 that Nelson will win, another $300 to $100 on Nelson.

The odds now are claimed as 10 to 1, with Nelson the favorite, but there appears plenty of Herrera money in sight waiting for better odds.

During yesterday afternoon Jim Jeffries dropped into town. Asked for his opinion on the fight, Jeffries dictated the following, and signed his name to it:

"As everybody knows, I am a heavy-weight, and have always boxed in that class, so that it is hard for me to give a very definite opinion about the coming fight between Herrera and Nelson. Both the lads are very clever, and I think that one or the other of them is surely entitled to the championship in the lightweight class. But, as to saying which one of them is going to win the contest, that is beyond me."

"Herrera is a hard fighter with his right hand, and he has a knack of landing it when and where he wants to. I think that he has power enough to put Battling Nelson out if he hits him right, but I don't know whether he can land in the right way."

"Everybody has heard of Nelson's boxing in way of fighting, and I may tell you that such a style makes it very hard for the other man to swing in a knock-out. If you have a fellow right on top of you all the time taking no notice of short-arm jabs in the face and body, it is mighty hard to get room to swing on him sufficiently hard to put him out."

"I will say, however, with confidence, that the contest next Friday is going to be a mighty pretty one and well worth seeing by any lover of clean sport."

David at Arcadia, Nelson is hobnobbing with "Lucky" Baldwin, who says he will back him heavily to win. Baldwin stated yesterday that he is a judge of class, and that Nelson looks right to him and will win. Baldwin will be at the ring-side.

Everything is jubilation at Herrera's camp, and the change in opinion as to his chances of winning the championship have, if possible, made him more enthusiastic. He is restless now that he is hearing the event, and never tired of telling of his good physical condition.

He has received an offer from an amusement manager of $3000 a week for twenty weeks, and if he wins the championship the time will be extended to ten months. There are several other offers on the fire, and the Mexican will not want for meat tickets no matter how the battle goes.

Win or lose, Herrera will not rush eastward, but will take an outing near Bakerfield for several weeks. He will then return here and await offers for battles. If he has the championship the next man that gets a whack at it will have to fight before the Pacific Athletic Club.

MISS SUTTON OFF TO ENGLAND.

Tennis Champion Closes Last Days Before Departure by Defeating Opponents in Six Sets.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.) NEW YORK, May 22.—On the eve of sailing for England to defend her title to the English national lawn tennis championship, Miss Mary Sutton of Pasadena engaged in her final practice today, upon American courts. Miss Sutton played on the courts of the Westchester County Club.

In the singles she defeated Mrs. Barger Wallace in three sets, 6-1, 6-1, 6-4.

Mixed doubles also were played. Miss Sutton paired with B. S. Prentiss, formerly the Harvard champion, defeated Mrs. Wallace and C. P. Watson, Jr., 6-3, 6-4, 6-3.

Miss Sutton said she was in the best of condition for the defense of her title, which will be played on the all-England lawn tennis courts at Wimbledon, London. She will sail tomorrow aboard the Oceanic and expects to witness the international matches in which the American team is competing for the Davis cup.

Miss Sutton said that she did not expect to play in any other tournaments abroad, but her plans might be changed when she arrived on the other side of the Atlantic.

NEW WOMEN'S GOLF RECORD.

Requires Five Extra Holes in an Eighteen-Hole Match to Settle Great Game.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.) AUBURNDALE (Mass.) May 22.—What is believed to be a national record in women's championship golf competitions was established yesterday at the Woodland Golf Club when the opening of the annual meet of the Boston women's golf association when Miss Mary Dutton of the Oakley Country Club and Miss Francis C. Osgood of the Country Club played five extra holes in an eighteen-hole match before the match was decided in favor of Miss Dutton. A difficult style on the twenty-third green, which Miss Osgood all but negotiated, brought an end to the long contest.

CHAMPIONSHIP GAME.

U.S.C. and Los Angeles High School Girls' Team Will Settle Issue at Long Beach.

The University of Southern California girls' basketball team and the girls' team from Los Angeles High School will meet in the crucial tests for the championship of the South at the Long Beach Jockey Club for an end to the long contest.

Thus far both teams have shown strength far superior to former years, and today's struggle will be the battle royal. U.S.C. and the High School have defeated all other teams of the league and are clearly entitled to settle the championship. The team from the High School is the best that ever represented that institution. The personnel of the team is, perhaps, superior to that of the university, but their individual brilliancy is matched by the excellent team work of their opponents. The Methodists are handicapped this year by the loss of Miss Mabel Payton, who last year was considered the best player in her position in the South. Her place has been filled by Miss Lorraine Montgomery, a player of inexperience, but who gives promise of great development later on. Her team mate, Miss Ethel Hogan, has developed greater speed than ever and will be an important factor in the coming contest. Miss Alta Thornton at center, plays a consistent, heady game. JAP-A-LAC

A STAIN AND VARNISH COMBINED

to renewing the finish on Floors, Furniture, Interior Woodwork, Weather-Beaten Doors, Porch Furniture, Andirons, and all articles of wood or metal about the home.

HOUSECLEANING TROUBLES vanish behind the brush containing this wonderful finish. JAP-A-LAC is the highest grade colored varnish made. You can apply it yourself to anything about your home. It is easy to apply, and dries quickly with a beautiful luster.

Any dilapidated piece of furniture, which you think is too badly marred or scuffed to look well in your home, may be beautified at a small cost, with JAP-A-LAC. JAP-A-LAC is put up in self-sealing cans of convenient size—use what you need for a job, seal up the can, and the JAP-A-LAC will remain in good condition until the last drop is used.

Don't allow anything about your home to become shabby. If you find a scratch or mar, JAP-A-LAC! JAP-A-LAC will cover all unsightly defacements.

Take a look at your floors. JAP-A-LAC is THE FINEST FLOOR FINISH MADE—You can make any floor look like new with it; and heel prints, marks, and scratches will not show white on a JAP-A-LAC floor. The surface will be as hard as flint, and as smooth and brilliant as glass.

All sizes from 15c. to $2.50. Ask your Paint, Hardware or Drug Dealer about JAP-A-LAC.

JAP-A-LAC

GLOSS WHITE FOR WICKER CHAIRS.

What piece of furniture in your home was more admired than that old wicker chair, when it was new? You can rejuvenate it with a can of Gloss White JAP-A-LAC. Don't think it is not worth while;—a new chair would cost a number of dollars,—a can of JAP-A-LAC and a brush a few cents. Here's a question of economy worth looking into. If you have never seen the wonderful effect of JAP-A-LAC, try it on your wicker chair, and you will then realize its beauty. You can JAP-A-LAC a chair in a few minutes. Put a fancy cushion on the chair after it is dry, and you will have a piece of furniture fit for your best room.

A WARNING AGAINST THE DEALER WHO SUBSTITUTES.

Some dealers keep a little JAP-A-LAC in stock, so that when you ask for it, they can say, "Oh yes, we have it, but here is something BETTER." Why do they say something BETTER? For the simple reason that they make more profit on the kind they say is BETTER.

If the something really is better than JAP-A-LAC, why doesn't the manufacturer of it advertise it, and tell you about it? Is it so good that he wants to keep that knowledge to himself? Hardly seems reasonable, does it?

Armstrong and Laura Woodhead, the guards, have proven their prowess of foot when point getting was in order, and all play snappy ball.

The game will be played on the High School court at Long Beach at 4 p.m. today, and visitors from both schools will be out on mass.

TEAM GOES NORTH.

Less Than Half of Looleos Start for Portland, With Capt. Dillon in Lead.

Six members of the Los Angeles baseball team left last night for Portland and it is barely possible that as many more may think again today and want to go tonight. Those who went were Dillon, Cravath, Bernard, Ellis, McClelland and Bergman, and those that remained were Spies, Eager, Brasher, Ross, Gray, Hall and Toman.

Jack Atz is scheduled to leave this morning for New Orleans and Tozer and Nagle started last night for Columbus, O., where they expect to play this summer. It is possible that they would turn back if they could see in The Times this morning what is stated about players who jump the league.

Dillon declares that these three players if they take French leave will be forced to come back to Los Angeles and pay their own transportation and need expect nothing in the way of increased salaries.

Schoolmasters and Harper-Reynolds Clubs Play Match Game Saturday Afternoon.

The Harper-Reynolds team and the Schoolmasters' Club will meet on the Occidental grounds next Saturday afternoon to see if the teachers know as much about baseball as they do of reading and 'ritin'. The struggle will begin at 1:30 o'clock and the line-up will be about as follows:

Harper-Reynolds. Schoolmasters. Colbath catcher Porter King first base C. White O. Reinhardt second base Abbott Gray third base Gastrich Gray left field C. Reinhardt Fallon center field W. White Hernon right field Williams

Sudhoff Pounded Hard.

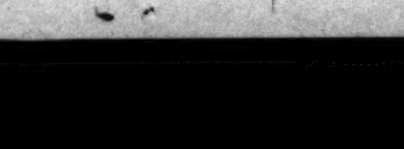

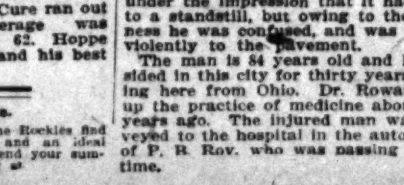

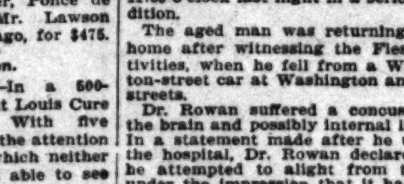

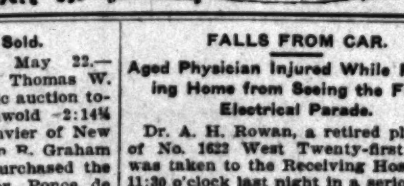

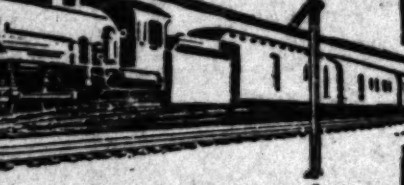

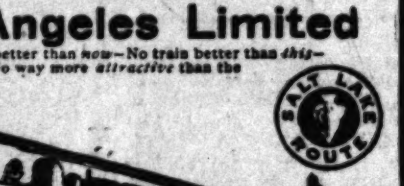

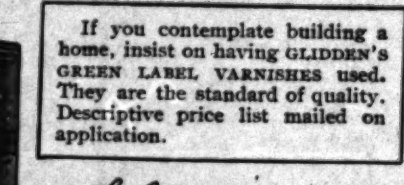

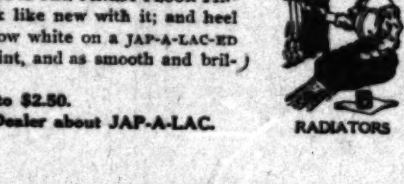

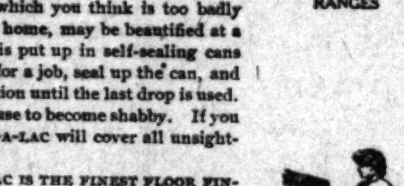

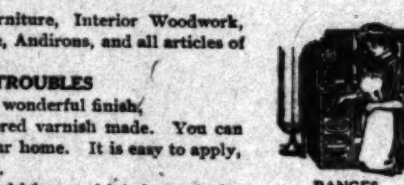

WASHINGTON, May 22.—St. Louis batted Sudhoff out of the box in two innings today and defeated Washington in the tenth inning. Hughes, who relieved Sudhoff, was effective until the last inning, when a base on balls, a hit and two errors let in the winning run. Score:

For Public Morals.

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) May 22.—The answer to the Kentucky Racing Commission to the application of the Douglas Park Jockey Club for an injunction to prevent interference with the Douglas Park Clubs racing programme was filed in the federal court today. The commission takes a broad stand of public morals and general good as the reason for contesting the races.

The answer states that the races at Churchill Downs and Latonia are old institutions and should be allowed to continue.

Dead in Her Room.

Mrs. T. P. Corbett, a domestic living in the Gladstone Hotel, Fifth and Main streets, was found dead in her room yesterday morning. A bottle partly filled with laudanum was found on her dresser, and it is supposed the woman took a dose of the drug to cure a severe headache and inadvertently swallowed too much. Mrs. Corbett was about 50 years of age, and friends say that when last seen Monday night she was in good spirits. The remains were removed to Pierce Bros. morgue, where an inquest will be held today.

AGED EARL PLAYS WITH TOY BRICKS.

LORD MOUNT EDEGUMBE HAS JUST REMARRIED.

Owens the Finest Domain in the West of England to Which is Attached a First-Class Guest House. American Heiresses May Be Interested to Learn That the Heir to the Estate is Still a Bachelor.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)

LONDON, May 5.—It is only the unexpected that happens. Nobody imagined that after being a widower for over thirty years, the septuagenarian Earl of Mount Edgumbe would marry again. And naturally, therefore, he has just gone and done it. He has married his cousin, Lady Ravensworth, whose first husband the Earl of Ravensworth died two years ago. She is only a few years the Earl of Mount Edgumbe's junior. The marriage was a private one. At the Earl's request his tenants refrained from making any demonstration when he brought his bride home. In a published letter addressed to them he says that he married again because he felt lonesome and intimates that it was the same feeling which induced his wife to venture on a second husband.

The Earl of Mount Edgumbe, who spends a good deal of his leisure time in building houses with toy bricks. He has just re-married.

The Earl is now in his seventy-fourth year. At such an age the active outdoor life of youth is practically impossible, so the Earl, when he cannot get out, amuses himself indoors with a very elaborate box of bricks. Luckily he was born with a taste for architecture, and he builds quite ambitious palaces on the drawing room table with these opportune toys. During a recent illness he quite surpassed himself in the magnitude of the building he turned out, and to complete the work he had it illuminated with electric lights for the delectation of his visitors.

Mount Edgumbe is the most princely domain in the west of England. It is approached by an imposing glade, reminiscent of Saxon times, and on all sides are undulations, zigzag laurel walks, nooks and grottoes with peeps at the broad expanse of the channel, the bleak Staden Heights, the crowded Plymouth Sound, and the still more crowded Hamoaze—a riot of blossoming vegetation and stately avenues and stretches of park land above, the glittering waters studded with white-sailed yachts, brown-sailed fishing smacks, steamers, and the grim monsters of the Royal Navy. No other demesne in the kingdom enjoys such delightful contrasts of scenery, sea, river and sylvan beauty. The house is a massive quadrangular structure, built in the days of Queen Mary, but the park was enclosed by royal license by Sir Piers Edgumbe, who was knighted by Henry VII. in 1489. The orange trees of the Italian garden—some of them over 150 years old—are probably the finest in England, and superior even to those in the Jardins des Tuilleries.

Mount Edgumbe, of course, has its ghost story, and an exceptionally good one it is. A former lady of Edgumbe was buried in a trance in an old chapel in the grounds. A butler of the hall, avaricious for the gold ring on her fingers, made a midnight visit to the tomb. He was cutting off her fingers when she rose in her coffin, the blood dripping on her white shroud and the butler fled. Mad with terror he hung himself over the cliff to instant death, and his ghost, it is said, haunts the scene to this day.

But the lady, like the Lady Rhodessa, mended apace, and lived for many years. A son was born to her from whom the present Earl is descended. There is no man more generally esteemed in the West country. Such a model young man was he, in his earlier days, that he was chosen as the companion of the present king, when, as Prince of Wales, he was released from parental control. Many members of the family have figured largely in their country's history since the days when William Edgumbe, in 1583, "bought a wife for forty shillings"—the sum fixed by the Black Prince for the marriage of Hilarde de Cothell—to those of the Sir Richard Devon and builder of Mount Edgumbe. It may interest American heiresses to know that the heir to the magnificent state, Viscount Valentfort, though forty-one years old, is still a bachelor.

Perhaps It Cured Him.

Capt. Mary Casto was being congratulated on his gift of $1500 from the Carnegie hero fund for bravery in the service of the Cherokee.

"The gift was unexpected," said Capt. Casto, with a modest smile. "It was as unexpected, though, by no means as unpleasant, as the report that a wife made to her husband when he came home at 3 o'clock in the morning."

The man came home very quietly. In fact, he took off his shoes on the front doorstep. Then he unlocked the door and went cautiously and slowly upstairs on tiptoe, holding his breath.

A Poor Argument.

Lawrence Waterbury, the racket expert, got out of a hansom before he was asked to give an opinion on the Boston Racket Club.

"Then, if you play this way," began his companion; but Mr. Waterbury, laughing, interrupted him.

"If I play this way," he said, "it will be 'heads I win, tails you lose.' You argue like the man who ran the raffle."

"The man who ran the raffle?" "Yes. There was a man running a raffle for a clock. The tickets were a quarter apiece. The man approached an Irishman and said:

"Let me sell you a ticket for a raffle."

"And what is being raffled, friend?" the Irishman asked.

"A clock," said the other. "A clock is it? Then come out, said the Irishman. 'I have no use for a clock, and I wouldn't know what to do with it if I had one.'"

"Oh, never mind. Take a chance. You may not get it," said the raffler.—"Chicago Tribune."

Many a Raincoat is Cravenetted all right. But the fabric that has been Cravenetted is all wrong. Remember that Cravenette is a process and not a fabric. Any and all fabrics can be Cravenetted. Many flimsy overcoatings have been Cravenetted. They keep the rain out for a while, but the rain-wear soon wears them out.

All our Cravenetted fabrics are all that they should be—all wool. A Brauer-Krohn Raincoat is therefore all that it should be.

ANGELES CITY'S FAIREST FEAST DAY OF THE FLOWERS DRAWS GREATEST CROWD EVER WITHIN HER PORTALS.

THE MOST BRILLIANT FLOWER FETE ever held in California, the feast of the flowers, was witnessed in Los Angeles yesterday. In perfect May weather, beneath an amorous sky, a million people beheld the greatest sight of their lives. A day of heart's delight, filled with the joy of living—a day of carefree and flowing to the brim with the wine of gladness, the celebration of La Fiesta de las Flores, Los Angeles has marked far beyond all previous efforts, leaving within the people a memory that will linger until the children have grown gray and vanished into the dust of a time that was.

With the glimmer of early morn the people of the city were on their feet, coming pouring in from near and far to greet the feast of the flowers. When the boom of the signal gun shook the air, the hour of 11 of the forenoon, and the cavalcade of color began its triumphant journey, the streets were jammed on either side with the biggest crowd ever gathered at one time in the history of the city.

A stretch of twelve long city blocks on Broadway, Spring and Main streets were banked with solid immovable masses from the sidewalks to the curb. Above this dense crush of humanity, every window was gazed with onlookers. Never since the sun first shined on this vast assemblage gathered within the ancient portals of the Pacific of the Angels.

When the flying skirmish line of automobiles, flaming with flowers, came dashing on the sight, the roaring streets caught their breath and fell into a momentary hush of astonishment. It was a great idea—that skirmish line of autos. They were the pacemakers, the trail blazers, and they came to make straight the path of the flowers. Always a block or more in advance of the main body, they came whirling along in a blaze of color, proudest, circling like huge eagles on rainbow wings. The effect was bewilderingly beautiful.

were roses enough to deck the throne-room of the King of Spain at his coming wedding. The talleys, the tandems, the smart traps, and all the vehicles in line displayed not only an extraordinary profusion of wild flowers and blossoms, but of cut flowers from the gardens, as well. It seemed that the catalogues of the florist were exhausted in the decorations. But of all the floats that passed in review, it is doubtless the consensus of opinion that the Arizona float and the Gondola from Venice were the finest. The first-named was a most striking and faithful picture of the desert with its cacti, wastes of sand and thirsting caravans. Standing in typical pose, was a full-blooded Navajo from the Hills of Silence. The exquisitely wrought gondola, with its gondolier and blossom-decked paddle, was towed by a string of camels upon the last of which rode a bewitching girl of the Arabian desert, raven haired, red-lipped with dark, dancing eyes of glory. As she passed through the gleaming streets, gay with myriad banners and pennants, she threw kisses to the shouting thousands upon the way.

kisses to them all, alike, crowding the curbs for the sight of her, or hanging from roof and portico high above her. THE CALIFORNIA GIRL. But, when all is said and done, the memory of this wonderful pageant will cling to one lingering dream that cannot fade, though all others may. It is the dream of fair maidens, the memory of the fair and lovely daughters of California of the South, white-robed, sweet and comely, clear-eyed, with cheeks aglow like the peach tree in bloom. Who may ever forget them

YESTERDAY'S floral parade was sixteen blocks long. It required fifty minutes to pass the City Hall. To decorate one float 30,000 flowers and blossoms were used.

The Fiesta Committee estimates that 1,200,000 flowers were used in decorations.

The parade was witnessed by 250,000 people, the greatest concourse ever gathered in Los Angeles at one time.

There were more floats and more six-in-hands than in any former floral parade.

There were 400 horses and 150 pretty girls in the parade.

There were 125 entries of floats, cavalcades and equipages.

In decorating the fire department floats four acres of sweet peas, two acres of callas and two acres of geraniums were used.

Thirty-five Arizona cowboys, fresh from the ranges, with mounts and kits, took part.

The costumes and mountings of some of the Mexican caballeros cost more than $3000 each.

A greater number of flowers was used, and more artistic taste in decorating was displayed than in any former floral parade.

as he saw them, yesterday amid the flowers, themselves the flower of the world? Lithe-limbed and strong, beautiful with the joy of life, they are, after all, the most priceless possessions of the land we love. Unashamed in their virtue, they stood before the populace, garlanded and wreathed in spring-time blossoms, hedged in by the love and respect and very worship of their own strong kinsmen, friends and neighbors.

Flowers of the field and flowers of the hearthstone, there they were together as the brave show moved down the highways of fame, gladdening the soul and filling the heart with vast content. Hail, flowers of the plain. Hail flowers of womanhood.

Then down the street a wild yell, a chorus of yowls and whoops, the "hi-hi" of the cattle call and a roar of flying hoofs. The whole cavalcade would burst into view riding like mad creatures, the horses—ears back—fighting the big Spanish bits and covering themselves with foam.

One of the horses proudly bore Dixie Thompson's famous silver saddle and bridle—probably the handsomest harness ever put on a western horse.

EQUINE ARISTOCRATS. Many of these horses were equine aristocrats. (There were dainty, trim steeds with garbled knees mining along before tandem carts; heavy draft horses pounding along with majesty of tread; ranch-trained thoroughbreds who whirled on their hind legs and reared and plunged; "high school horses" dancing along with stylish knee.

No other city could turn out such horsemen as these sitting their saddles with the easy sway of the range riders. Some of the men were big bear-skin "chaps"—some were clad from top to toe in leather. Two or three very pretty girls rode in leather riding skirts with ruffles at their pommels.

Some of the carriage decorations were unusually handsome—like the automobiles. One of the richest was hidden in brakes and ferns from the dark nest of which came two brilliant orange-colored parasols. The horses who drew it were golden bays, decked with flaming orange-colored harness.

One of the unique bits of the parade was the desert float which contrived on the narrow top of a moving platform to give so vivid a picture of the desert life that it almost brought the hazy and the desert air with it. You could almost see the desert hills melting into distance. You instinctively expected the long-drawn howl of the desert coyote. The men who were on the float acted out the part capably.

Screams of delight from thousands of children greeted one feature of the parade and made his procession a triumph; the live bear which topped the Native Sons' float. Brer Bruin looked out upon the yelling crowd with an expression of mournful, blasé disgust.

The parade would have been a hit without anything else besides the rajah lady with the hot kisses.

The camel she rode drew a brilliant gondola from Venice, and the other camels she drove tandem. The brown arms of her were bare and she undressed.

It was a blended picture coruscating and sparkling with life, interest and color. There were no repetitions. It was like a Japanese garden where mass effects are sacrificed to isolated perfection.

Perhaps the most characteristic feature of it was the old one that never becomes stale—the dash, the plunge of the Spanish riders.

lated with the voluptuous roll of the "bloomer coat." A girl of our race mounted on a camel looks as though she were sitting on an office stool in a springtime express wagon clattering over the cobblestones. The rajah maid was one rapturous waddle of beauty and languorous motion.

FIRST DIVISION.

FLOATS AND COWBOYS.

Bursting on the vision like a forest fire on a dark night, Grand Marshal W. A. Hammel, gayest cavalier of them all, fairly eclipsed, beautifully bedecked and the mounted police that headed the parade, led by Chief of Police Auble, Capt. Brothman and Capt. Braden, all in full dress uniforms and riding handsome steeds. The Catalina band also separated the glittering Grand Marshal from the head of the column, but the chorus of "ohs" and "ahs," loud in the first block, fainter in the next and dying away to a faint sigh far ahead, proved that they saw him coming.

Clad in a velvet suit of a rich red, which in many places showed only in spots through the silver ornaments it bore, Hammel was a living reminder of the days of the grandees, when to from its trimmings before its hunger was appeased.

To the jangle of the deep and shrill-toned sleighbells, swinging at the necks of the camels, rolled the gondola, the body of the Venetian boat being of white carnations, while the rail was bound in red. Fluffy ferns added to the decorations.

Riding in the Gondola were eight pretty young women of Santa Monica, Misses Hazel Webster, Ethel Fraser, Mabel McKenzie, Hazel Tomblin, Grace Carr, Elma French, Grace Lavaya and Helen King. They carried white parasols, adorned with blossoms and greenery. The float was in charge of F. Limous.

BIG HIT BY COWBOYS.

It remained for the cowboys to make the picturesque hit of the first division. In beauty and elegance they were overshadowed, naturally, by the cavaliers that had gone before, but there came the real tang of the mystic desert and of the Great Southwest when they dashed into view. Dr. G. A. Scroggs, marshal of the first division, leading them. He was mounted on "Sir George," a magnificent white horse of great beauty, on his back a Spanish saddle, silver mounted, and in the hands of the rider a yodle similarly embellished. The marshals wore white buckskin chaps, and the remainder of

Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Greene's turnout—a stunning effect.

Mexico, G. L. Grimley of Denver, who claims many championships in riding and roping, "Wild Horse" Bill of the Argentine, and many others. Some in red shirts, others in blue or black, and with bandanas around their necks, all wearing Stetsons and carrying in their belts revolvers that displayed their heavy handles at the elbow of the rider, most of them wearing buckskin or buckskin trousers with wide fringe; all with the ropes within grasp of their hands, they formed a striking picture of life in the cow country.

Sheriff White, Ira Harrington, Tom Strom, "Big" Hutchinson, Gilbert Wilson, and other attaches of the Sheriff's office were in the cavalcade, also former Street Superintendent Ward, and other local men.

Many of the horses in the line did fancy stunts, while skilled riders exhibited their prowess by tossing their hats to the ground and recovering them without dismounting.

heads, while his brooch clutched was the hide of a wild cat.

J. A. Noble was the Indian, R. R. Landt was the wounded cowboy, R. A. Harwell the deputy marshal, and R. W. Clark one of the pursuing rangers. J. A. Hendrickson, who designed the float and did much of the work on it, rode just behind on the handsome white horse, "Silver King," owned by Walter Newhall. Hendrickson was a striking figure in his cowboy outfit, which included black buckskin chaps and other trappings of the calling.

In his efforts to make the camp scene a creditable one, Hendrickson made a long journey into the back country to get the cactus, the yucca and other accessories. The acclimation with which the exhibit was greeted indicated that his time and efforts were not in vain.

Katherine Tottenham, Marguerite Cooper, Ellen Bond, Vinette Morris, Dorothy Vinson, Clara Belle Gordon, Marjory Pryor, Maude Howell, Marie Wakeman, Alice Lawton, Esther Stephens, Adeline McHenry, Violet Thayer, Made Bassett, Jessie Bassett.

The outsiders in their powdered wigs were Walter Perkins, W. W. Campbell, Kirk Sinclair, M. Salzman Jr., D. V. Hamilton, H. D. Naugle, C. W. Spaulding, Ella Taylor.

SANTA ANA'S FEATURE.

Carrying out a deeply-banked color effect of white and yellow, the tallyho and six of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce and Business Men's Association formed one of the pleasing out-of-town features of the parade. The Columbia Marching Club, its members clad in immaculate white uniforms with gold braid, crimson braids and red leggings, carrying above their heads fluttering plumes, accompanied the Santa Ana delegation and won much applause for their clever and intricate maneuvers during the march.

The delegation from Santa Ana were R. J. Rice, H. C. Hill, W. M. Scott, J. T. Wilson, John McFadden, Clyde R. R. Blackey, George Edgar and H. M. Smith.

BLACK AND GOLD.

In somber and dignified contrast to the fanciful coloring of the other floats and vehicles in the parade, the tallyho and six of the University of Southern California Law School, horses, riders' caps, gowns and all in a sober background of black set off with gold as they were ably seconded by the wide-spread attention and won tremendous applause.

The guild of the coach was attained by banks upon banks of native California mustards. In the coach were ten students and on horse back, outriders, all clad in black. In their hands they carried funeral pennants, upon which was inscribed in letters of gold, "Law, surrounding the golden monogram of the college.

The very absence of color in this figure gave it a strange and striking power of contrast almost startling.

In the coach were Messrs. McLean, Goodwin, Higgins, Campbell, McDowell, Starlin, Blackley, Kerns, Burch, Valach, Browne, Cardwell, Marnell, Willis, Clayton, Richards, Borden, Pinford, Norton, Hogan.

Their chief business seemed to be to bear aloft the banners with their strange devices, and to yell the college yell, and sing the college songs.

In this they were ably seconded by the outriders, Messrs. C. L. Evans, J. H. Hunt, Will Freeman, N. Dickinson, R. R. Cahill, R. L. Edwards, J. B. Brown, Oliver Clark, and Oscar Horn. With saddles of black and golden bridles, and the necks of their steeds gleaming about with wreaths of mustards, the outriders formed a most imposing array.

The famous gardens of Pasadena were heavily called upon to furnish the floral decorations for the May basket, motif of the beautiful tallyho representing the Crown of the Valley.

This coronation float was made up of more than 40,000 carnations, 25,000 sweet peas, and 300 streamers of smilax. With outriders and footmen, the float was a most impressive sight. The coach clad in Watteau costumes of white silk, powdered wigs and delicate ribbons, and the general effect of this float was bewilderingly beautiful.

True to its type in every detail, dainty in conception, artistic in color, and one of the most loudly-applauded and striking in the line.

In the coach a bevy of charming girls of their equipment. These charming young women of the May were True Patterson, Gladys Percy, Olive Phillips, Mabel Owen, Louise Lockwood, Ethel Richardson, Frankie Boynton, Helene Cantrill, Gail Jepson, Gertrude Green, Lynette Legge.

Gerald Waterhouse on a prancing steed, with silver trumpet, was the proud herald, and G. Johnson, C. Owen, P. Little, M. Patterson, L. Sherry and Earl Starbuck the outriders. The footmen were R. Hopkins, D. Shoemaker, W. Luxton, C. Tarus, George Longhery, E. Kern and George Gaylord.

The Floral Committee did itself proud in the ancient and honorable banner, coach, loaded down with many thousands of both rose and carnations, drawn by six spirited horses, all in white silk harness, and with outriders all in white, carrying fluttering streamers of silk.

This coach purposely arrived in line too late to be judged, as the members of the committee did not feel justified in going into the competitive class.

Capt. Banning held the ribbons, with him on the top of the coach were Misses W. Jarvis Barlow, F. W. Flint, Jr., J. von Schmidt, Le Moine Wells, J. Moss Clark, H. H. Herron and John T. Griffith.

Inside the coach was a bevy of happy youngsters, the children of Ed. Neff, Dr. Frank Talmadge and Capt. Banning. The outriders were the members of the Floral Committee, Dr. W. J. Barlow, F. W. Flint, Jr., J. S. Mott, Carl Klokke, E. D. Neff and Gen. Robert Wankowski. They were all dressed in white bannets. The heads of their mounts, as well as their bridles, were pure white.

The Long Beach Chamber of Commerce sent a tallyho all trimmed in green and pink. The representative business men of the town who occupied places in the coach were clad in a dashing color scheme, all their own, which won them general applause.

Bringing up the rear, last but by no means the least of the features of the second division was Troop D, Cavalry. The boys on their flower-bedecked steeds, and in their jaunty fatigue uniforms, presented a dashing and businesslike appearance.

SECOND DIVISION.

TALLYHOES AND DRAGS.

H. G. Bunden with his aides, marshalled the Second Division, including classes B and C, of tallyhoes and drags. B. H. the marshal and his aides were clad in immaculate white, cap, trousers, coats, and gaudies. The aides were K. V. Redpath, W. H. Snowden, J. W. Snowden, E. R. Nagle, W. R. Pricker, and Harry Messmore.

Billie's hand led the way for the flashing, many-colored flower-bedecked tallyhoes of this section.

In every respect deserving of the applause which it won, the dashing turnout of the Los Angeles High School, a tallyho and six with eight gallant outriders and bold heralds was easily one of the most conspicuous features of the parade.

The motif of this gorgeous picture was a Dutch Maying party of the sixteenth century. With six white horses heads, while his brooch clutched was the hide of a wild cat.

J. A. Noble was the Indian, R. R. Landt was the wounded cowboy, R. A. Harwell the deputy marshal, and R. W. Clark one of the pursuing rangers.

ride a fine horse, to sport a magnificent saddle and bridle, and to wear such a suit was the highest attribute of a gentleman of luxury and ease.

The richly embroidered and bespangled sombrero in itself was a treat, while the saddle and bridle on his mount were the envy of every horse rider who saw them.

Accompanying the Grand Marshal was a large company of other cavaliers in suits, possibly a trifle less stunning than that of their chief, and yet of all the splendor of Old Spain and of Mexico. Rich reds and blues and purples were among the velvet suits, with gay trimmings of bright colors and silver ornaments; some of a beauty that surpassed all grades of well-groomed horses in the trappings of saddles and bridles, that only a true cavalier knows how to appreciate.

It was a gay and a fitting escort to the aggregation of loveliness that was to follow.

A band brought up the rear of this brilliant array, and on its heels came the spinning fleet of Native Sons of the Golden West, an immense affair ten feet wide and twenty feet long, covered entirely with the bright yellow of the chosen Spanish hemp flower, the great expanse of which was broken on either side of the float by the name of the order, done in coral.

Aloft of the float stood a live brown bear, sleek and lively, while on a lofty peak was a handsome young woman, the entire outfit fitly representing the glorious state in which the Native Sons so sincerely show their pride. The float was drawn by six black horses, led by youths clad in pioneer costumes.

Drawn by six horses, at the head of each of which marched a youth in the flowing white Grecian robes, came next the float of the Polytechnic High School, a great triumphal barge of Greece, white, on a sea of blue, and bearing various symbols. The ship was covered with the fiery spray of bright yellow mustard. Standing within and along each side of the vessel were white-robed school maidens, each grasping a massive oar.

Of the figures represented, Miss Hamel M. Lidwell stood for Civilization, Miss Julia Murray for Progress, and Miss Florence Wachter for Education. The rowers included Misses Winnie Elmhurst, Mayne Cliff, Rose Lippincott, Florence Cox, Dillingham, Elizabeth Hammet, Maud Schuster and Louise Whitteley.

Lumbering along in their ungainly way, three camels swung into view, each led by an oriental of dark visage, baggy trousers and bright garb, the great ships of the Sahara Desert drawing the handsome float of the Venetian Day Committee. Riding in the boudoir on the third camel was the Princess Rajah, all in bright red, even to the little high-heeled shoes, which had several narrow escapes from being chewed into a cud by her hungry mount; the best really succeeded in swallowing several yards of apparatus stuporous and a few dozen carriages.

who is declared to be the oldest vaquero of them all. Ninety-two years has he seen, and he has ridden a horse for the greatest part of a century that has passed since he first was able to buckle an animal.

Ignacio was clad in an ordinary black suit, with black hat; he carried a bouquet of desert flowers that he had brought in with him from home.

Among the cowboys were several of more than usual note in the world of the range. Some had come from New Mexico, and from other distant points, but Arizona failed to send the quota that was expected. Several women in cowboy costume were in line, excellent riders some of them.

There were William Smith of New ill he had given the pursuing cowboys a hard fight. A Ute, he had killed the maverick with bow and arrow, and one of his cowboy captors lay on an Indian blanket, his head bound with a white rag through which blood had oozed from his wound.

Saddles, guns, and other paraphernalia were scattered about the camp, while a deputy marshal, on the front of the red shirt, stood a star, guarded the Indian, lest he slip his tethers and escape. One of the rangers carried an old-time frontier slingshot, a 4 Colt's that saw service years ago with pony riders in Montana.

The red man wore a genuine Ute shirt, of buckskin, trimmed with replendent in trappings of palest blue, the outriders in blue and white, the equipment itself was a mass of carnations and ferns. More than 3000 carnations entered into the body of the decorations, all the work of the students of the High School, under the direction of R. J. Sterrett, art director of the school.

Overlapping the body of the vehicle, wherein sat seventeen pretty maidens, the Maypole reared through a mass of brilliant foliage. Round about on every hand swung the outriders. The footmen were R. Hopkins, D. Shoemaker, W. Luxton, C. Tarus, George Longhery, E. Kern and George Gaylord.

The Farrand-Cecilian Piano

A high-grade upright piano with the Metal Action Cecilian Piano Player built inside the case. A Piano that anyone can play without experience or musical knowledge.

The Metal Action of the Cecilian Piano Player, which is built into the Farrand-Cecilian piano, is made of steel, brass and phosphor-bronze, and is affected in any manner by dampness, heat or weather changes of any kind.

The old-style WOODEN construction (still used in all other makes of players) is peculiarly susceptible to all atmospheric changes on account of continued swelling and shrinkage of the wood, and the leakage occasional necessitate frequent repairs which are both troublesome and expensive.

The CECILIAN METAL ACTION practically does away with the need for repairs, and in the Farrand-Cecilian piano provides you with an instrument which is always ready for use and can be played by ANYONE either with fingers, like any ordinary piano, or by means of the Cecilian piano-player mechanism built into it. No experience, no knowledge of music is necessary. Can be bought on easy payments, and your old piano taken in exchange at its full value.

TOURISTS AND FIESTA.

kept from demonstrating their pure goodness by their riders.

All idea of time and distance was lost during the remainder of my viewing of La Fiesta.

Whirling flower-covered wheels of these chariots of the Fairies of Flowers and Light, and their occupants made me somehow feel awful small as I thought of our eastern methods of public entertainment.

I remember the Mardi Gras in New Orleans. There was beauty and plenty of it. There were dancing effects wrought by the ingenuity of the artists and blinding lights without end.

All of these I now saw reproduced upon an infinitely greater scale, and then, to cap the climax and sweep all doubt or idea of even a comparison from my mind, I saw the flowers.

At the Mardi Gras I saw beautiful women. But—remember me to those bright-eyed, pink-cheeked, fair-haired ladies from your schools who sat like queens and looked the part.

FOR FUN, NOT TROUBLE.

I marvelled at the order of the streets. Packed in dense throngs, so that movement was well-nigh impossible, I saw practically no disorder. Every one seemed to have too much to see to trouble about one's neighbor's doings.

Along the line of the parade, runs cool. No one was seeking trouble and no one found it.

There was no conflict throwing, which only too often paves the way for trouble. I saw no one intoxicated, except with pleasure.

The evidence was with, of the comfort of living, of the ability to live well on every hand. The cost of this great feast of the flowers must be enormous. In no other city would it be possible.

For two reasons it would be impossible elsewhere. First, the flowers do not exist; and, secondly, the unanimity shown by business, corporate, municipal and private interests cannot be found in any other city.

A paradox it is to the mind of an easterner. Here the people make money. Lots of it. Fortunes are made here daily. Here the people live luxuriously and in better homes as a whole. Here the battle of business and corporate interests is as fierce as elsewhere. Here the race for political honors, and for franchises is as swift. Here the natural clash between man and man is as great as in any other city in the world, and yet there is the time the money and the will to have the greatest public festival that any city in the United States, or the world, for that matter, can boast of.

Truly Angeles are so to be envied.

JAM-PACKED WITH HUMANS.

FIESTA CROWD TURNS STREETS TO LIVING RIVERS.

Are You One of the Near Two Hundred and Fifty Thousand Happy People Who Saw the Floral Parade? Herein of Mayor—Humor and Tragedies of Day.

It was a crowd whose numbers cannot be guessed. Every window hung over with people; every street was narrowed to a lane with a clinging fungus of crowd on curb and sidewalk. They stood ten and twelve ranks deep in a line that stretched miles. In the military downtown, the people who stood upon the streets yesterday would have circled the whole city. The procession must have been reviewed by over 200,000 people.

A population of proportions that important Southern California towns would boast of surged and pounded like the surf about single street corners.

The mob was so vast that the streets, packed like bologna sausage, had all semblance of thoroughfares loaded with people, and became like animals, writhing things, as though crowd and street were one.

Even a gorgeous fiesta parade may develop a hero; the hero of this one was the Mayor of the city.

Through the dense pack that surged and eddied about the City Hall came a haggard young man, helplessly gripping a baby in his arms. He stopped in despair at the police wire which fenced the curb.

ONE FOR THE MAYOR.

He lifted one foot to straddle over it; but gave it up. He couldn't duck under without squashing the infant. He was so utterly forlorn a spectacle that Mayor McAdams shinned down from the reviewing stand on the City Hall steps.

"Here," said the Mayor, benignly. "Give me the baby while you crawl over the wire."

The man handed him a look of undying gratitude and, cautiously put the wrapped-up mite of humanity into the Mayor's arms; after which he cautiously poised one leg, and slid it over; then went over the wire.

Just then a gusty windstorm swept through the crowd. The air of sweet martyrdom with which the Mayor looked on the baby changed to one of consternation and dismay. A young man who owned the thing had vanished. His straw hat was just creaking as it disappeared into the vortex of the mob.

It looked as though His Honor had been handed a bomb. He glanced wildly about; then an expression of dumb, utter despair settled down upon his mobile brow. Laughing the squawking baby in his arms, he stood paralyzed, while the crowd barged into his ribs, caved in his hat, snatched him in the back, and did cake walks on his feet.

SAVED AT LAST.

When Hope had died at last, and he was resigned to the crushing Fate, a breathless young person dashed up and almost tore the bundle from him, and one sputtering word like this: "Gimmethat baby."

The Mayor mopped his brow and licked his parched, dry lips with his tongue, and tottered weakly back into the grand stand, where he slumped into a seat.

Near The Times office, just before the parade came by, was a man reclining a baby-buggy containing twin blessings—both with high-power patent horns.

He tried in vain to find a loophole through the crowd. It was like an agitated hen, endeavoring to find the broken picket in the fence. He began getting warmer and more excited the nearer the parade approached.

tured, "Here, you little youngsters, sneak through here."

They slipped through like quail. One of the little girls took off her Tam O'Shanter for fear those behind her couldn't see. They settled down with little glances of anticipation.

Just as the first caballero dashed by on his curvetting horse, the crowd on the benches rushed apart and two big ruffians forced their way through. "Here's a place," said one of them. The crowd shunted to and fro for an instant. Then a new host appeared, a man between people's legs; under an elbow through the creak of a shoulder, the children could get, now and then, a glimpse of the procession. That was all. But every one who saw them will be haunted by the wistful looks of disappointment.

A girl with posies on her horse's saddle blanket being liable to fall off was not the only one with a heavy responsibility.

THE BELL RINGERS.

On North Main street was a man with a gang of fellows each having a dinner bell. When they all got in operation, there were doings. Attracted much attention. Came to be recognized as a tribute of excellence. It got to worrying the man lest he shouldn't distribute the applause with good results.

He would sit there on the edge of the roof of one of the store buildings with an expression of positive distress on his face. When a new host would come trundling by he would look anxious, make a few false starts, look around at a panic, finally when the float was half by jump up and begin ringing and set all his men ringing in a frenzy, seeing he had made a mistake, a mistake which let one of the fitting ones go by.

For applause a crowd of men in front of the Hoffman on Spring street would see this long color parading serpent crawling along between the walls of solid packed humans. In the crowd, where the crowd had closed in was an amazing conglomerate confused jostle of bobbing, eddying hats shunted and hurled to and fro and better-chatter in the tide and currents of the holiday.
